Festival Nets
Memorial Park
'About $1500'

President Edward J. Sweeney, of the Memorial Park association, announced last night the organization's three-day festival opposite the park July 3, 4 and 5 netted the group "about $1500."

That is the sum Sweeney feels the association will be able to bank toward payment of park maintenance bills and amortization of a $10,000 mortgage when the final vendor's bill is paid.

Only one bill for dairy products supplied for the festival is outstanding.

"The $1500 should take care of the bills for maintenance work at the park this Summer," the president said, "and, with the receipts from the circus we're planning for Aug. 11, help pay off $2000 more of the mortgage on the park."

THE KING Brothers and Christiana circus will present two performances, at 2 and 8 p. m., that day at the same site as the festival, on West King street near Macaulay street, Sweeney added.

A street parade of the circus performers, a herd of elephants and other animal will precede the performance, early in the afternoon before the first show, Sweeney said the parade "probably will be at 12:30 p. m." Its exact route was not known last night, he added, but the mile-long event undoubtedly will be on High street.

The association's recent membership drive enabled the organization to decrease the mortgage from $11,000 to the current $10,000.

PROWLER —

described the prowler as a short, stocky man wearing a bright-colored sports shirt.

The prowler began running away. Rozzass said, and he pursued him. "I grabbed him," Rozzass said, "and then he turned around and let me have it." Rozzass said that he had thrown up his right arm to ward off the blow, which he said might have been from a blackjack.

After he was hit, Rozzass said, he fell forward, knocking over some garbage.

she didn't remember much, except that he had a hazy impression of the prowler's fleeing north to Rowan avenue, a block away, and then turning east on the alleged avenue.

Rozsas was given dispensary treatment in Pottstown hospital at 3:15 a. m. He returned in mid-morning for X-rays.

Youth's drowning near Oaks—the sixth drowning victim in the area this summer.

Adamo Dinti, 142 River road, Birdsboro, followed this up by reporting the second flood-caused train derailment at the same spot in Schwenksville. Dinti won a cash bonus award.

Another cash bonus award went to Mrs. Ruth Fretz, Earlville, whose dog chewed up $35 worth of dollar bills. Mrs. Fretz kept her sense of humor and let The Mercury's readers share the comedy behind the loss.

These wide-ranging newstips had one thing in common—they were telephoned promptly. He who hesitates may lose the chance for some easy extra vacation spending money.

Sanatoga Firemen

To Purchase Pump

Sanatoga Fire company last night approved solicitation of bids on a small portable pump to be used in removing water from cellars after heavy rains.

The 18 members present at the July meeting in the firehouse also accepted two new members and learned some $250 worth of painting and plastering in the firehouse was completed.

A firecall report disclosed the company's lone call during the past month was that of June 14, the day of the bicentennial fireman's parade in Pottstown.

The fire, in a field on the Snell farm off Township Line road was fits. The V recommended wage pack

Fog System Truck Is Demonstrated by Limerick Fire Co.

Seven members of the Limerick Fire company demonstrated the company's year-old high pressure fog system truck to more than 40 residents of Neiffer, Limerick township, last night.

From 7 until 9 p. m. the fire company demonstrated the workings of the elaborate piece of fire fighting equipment which is the only one of its kind in this area.

Gordon Miller, chief of the company, said, "The truck's equipment can put out a good sized fire without much water, using 500 pounds pressure."

He said that the reason not much water is needed is because the fine spray which spreads over the burning area smothers the fire quickly.

THIS TYPE of equipment is excellent in combating oil fires when a stream of water only serves to spread the blaze, he added.

The truck also carries an auxiliary pump in case there is no water outlet available to the truck and water has to be pumped from a stream or well.

The fire company plans to conduct several more demonstrations in Limerick township to show the residents where the money donated to the company goes.

The demonstrations are preliminary to a fund raising campaign which will be conducted in the near future.

The next showing of the equipment will take place on July 28 at Major's Hollow, near Roversford.

Auto Club Head Joined by His Wife in Hospital

Mrs. Cora Bearcraft, whose husband, O. C. Bearcraft, manager of Pottstown Automobile club, was admitted to Memorial hospital the past Tuesday, was a patient across the hallway from him yesterday.

Mrs. Bearcraft underwent an abdominal operation yesterday morning at 8 o'clock. Hospital physicians said her general condition late yesterday was good.

The 63-year-old husband had, the past week, undergone a hernia operation that was caused by the separation of a previous incision. His condition likewise was "good."

Mrs. Bearcraft had been expecting for a long time to have the operation. Her husband's operation came on short notice after the incisional hernia developed rapidly.

Bearcraft has been manager of the auto club for the past 23 years. He has announced that he is stepping down in January. He and his wife celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary the past May. They have four children, whose homes are in the center of Sanatoga and in Pottstown.

Committee Named to Draft Democrats State Platform

HARRISBURG, July 14 (AP)—A 17-member committee, headed by State Sen. Maxwell S. Rosenfield, (D-Phila.), was named today to draft a Democratic State platform for the Nov. 4 election.

"The members of this committee," said State Chairman Maurice Spain Jr., "are all men, and women fully acquainted with the deficiencies of the Republican administration in Pennsylvania."

Applicants Okayed At Firemen's Meeting

Upper Pottsgrove firemen approved for membership last night at their July meeting the second largest group of applicants since their current membership drive opened recently. There were 23 in the group.

Two months ago 35 persons were approved as members. Next month, said President Richard C. Gaus, the total may be double the 22 already proposed for acceptance at the August meeting.

The 13 members present last night made final plans for the company's festival Saturday and July 26 on the company grounds. Proceeds of the festival will help purchase a large capacity pump.

Such a pump is needed, Gaus said, because water is not easily available in the township and the firemen must have a considerable supply with them when they answer an alarm.

Price Ceilings Are Lifted Off Processed Foods

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—Price ceilings were lifted off 90 percent of all processed fruits and vegetables today.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) issued the decontrol order in conformity with an amendment Congress nailed on to its bill extending the nation's economic controls.

OPS Director Ellis Arnall said it would mean higher prices on a number of items.

A price stabilization spokesman estimated that the items decontrolled cover about 20 percent of the total food budget for an average family and about 7 percent of a family's total expenditures.

CONSTRUCTION BILL SIGNED

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—President Truman today signed a bill authorizing $2,398,282,800 for military construction, mostly earthen dams, and for setting up a vast chain of secret U. S. air bases spanning three quarters of the globe.

Twenty-two states now prohibit the diversion of motor vehicle, fees and taxes to non-highway purposes, says the Automobile Club of New York.

Kefauver Men Say Opponents Are Ganging up

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—The calm Democratic front was shattered today by a charge of a "gang up" plot against Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. And then came a report that President Truman still is determined not to run for re-election.

The gang-up accusation came from Gael Sullivan, campaign manager for Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who told a news conference that supporters of rival candidates were involved in a "beat Kefauver" move. He did not say who they were.

Then in rapid-fire order came these developments:

1. Democratic National Chairman Frank E. McKinney reported President Truman had instructed him Sunday to oppose any "draft Truman" move that might develop in the Democratic National convention opening Monday.

2. McKinney told reporters Truman will not come to Chicago until after the Democratic nominee is chosen.

3. Sullivan demanded of McKinney that the entire convention proceedings be thrown open to the public.

This was learned yesterday when Dr. J. Elmer Porter, Pottstown physician and convention delegate, and Mrs. Irma L. Schwoyer, 776 Queen street, an alternate, said they would not attend.

Dr. Porter might have been the oldest of the more than 1200 delegates at the convention. He will be 87 years old Aug. 12.

He said he will miss the national convention for the first time since 1936 because it's too hot, because the distance is too great and because he has too much else to do.

MRS. SCHWOYER said she is not going for personal reasons. She was second alternate.

Taking Dr. Porter's seat as delegate will be Charles Ford, Penn. Wayne, the only other alternate named with Mrs. Schwoyer at the primary election the past Spring.

The other regular delegate, Morris Gerber, Norris town, attorney, and County Commissioner, who was a Democratic county chairman for 10 years.

Mensch will be a spectator. This will be the fifth straight convention he's seen.

Gerber and Mensch will leave Philadelphia on the chartered airplane carrying 25 delegates from Pottstown.

MENSCH SAID he had no personal preference among the announced candidates for the presidential nomination.

"I prefer Truman," he declared, but pointed out that the President has announced he will not seek or accept the nomination.

Mensch said merely, "I think they have a good crop to pick from."

Mensch has met one of the announced candidates, Senator Robert Kerr, of Oklahoma, who appeared recently in Berks county. "He's a nice man," Mensch asserted.

2 Are Treated In Hospital Here For Dog Bites

Two persons were treated for dog bites at Pottstown hospital yesterday.

Nancy Pettigrew, 2, of 816 North Evans street, was bitten on the left side of the chest near her home by a dog owned by William H. McCabe, 805 North Franklin street, about 10 a. m.

Motor Patrolman Joseph Threes directed McCabe to keep his dog tied up for ten days.

E. J. Sweeney Jr., 1065 Park drive, the other victim, was bitten on the left forearm about 8 p. m. by a dog owned by Orion V. Anderson, 1055 Park drive.

Anderson told Motor Patrolman Paul I. Galloway he intended taking his dog to his mother's house where he would tie it up for the required ten days.

Senatorial Battle

Virginians to Decide On Byrd or Miller

RICHMOND, Va., July 14 (AP)—Virginians will vote tomorrow whether to return Harry F. Byrd to the United States Senate or send S. Battle, who is in his third year of office, to the United States Senate.

It has been a bitter campaign between the Byrd group—the dominant, conservative wing of the Democratic party—and the liberal anti-organization wing. The prize is the Democratic nomination, which in Virginia is tantamount to election.

Byrd, who has been in the Senate for 19 years, stands on his record in favor of fiscal economy. Miller has attacked that record on both foreign and domestic issues, and he also claims to be after "Byrd Machine" control of Virginia politics.

Whether tomorrow's Democratic primary will turn out to be the "anti" most serious challenge to the Byrd organization in recent years, only the vote will tell.

MILLER HAS fought the organization before. He polled 111,573 votes in 1948 for governor while Byrd was the organization candidate. John S. Battle, who is in his third year of office, is the organization candidate against Byrd and Miller.

Less than one Virginian in ten is expected to vote tomorrow. The population of the State is 3,300,000, and best estimates are that the total vote will not go much above 300,000, if that.

Besides the Senatorial fight there are two Congressional races to be decided tomorrow. In Virginia's new tenth district, much of it residential to Washington, there is a spirited fight between C. C. Carlin Jr., of Alexandria, Delegate J. Maynard Magruder of the Virginia House of Delegates, Edmund D. Campbell and Landon C. Painter, all of Arlington. In the Sixth district Moss A. Plunkett challenges Rep. Clarence G. Burton.

Delegates Uncommitted

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 (AP)—Pennsylvania's 70-vote Democratic delegation will go to Chicago, uncommitted on a presidential nominee, undecided on its own chairmanship, and for the most part unwilling to make any predictions on how next week's show will end.

Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh, considered by some of the delegates as a likely choice for the chairmanship at Sunday's caucus, said, "We've not made up our minds on a candidate and won't until we meet in Chicago."

Keel Laid

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., July 14 (AP)—The keel was laid today for America's giant new supercarrier, the Forrestal, named to serve as a "mighty arm of freedom."

With that tribute, Deputy Defense Secretary William Foster dedicated the 60,000-ton vessel to the cause of world peace in a 30-minute ceremony at this Hampton Roads shipbuilding city.

Foster said the Forrestal's planes would be able to bring within reach the "innermost lairs" of any aggressor nation and will carry the naval air power of the United States to "any part of the world."

150 Youngsters Get Instruction At Band Camp

The woods at Ringing Rock park will be ringing with band music this week as 150 youngsters, members of the Summer Band camp, sound off on their instruments.

Sponsored by William F. Lamb Jr., music teacher and director of the Pottstown band, the program got underway last night at 6:30 o'clock with the purpose of giving musically inclined children the opportunity to play their instrument during the Summer months and train them in sight reading.

"We had our hands full with registering the young musicians last night," said Lamb, "and getting the information that placed them in specific groups."

The participants were divided into three bands according to age and experience on their respective instruments. The beginners orchestra, composed of children from 7 to 11 years old, is being instructed and conducted by William Schinck, director of the Pottstown Junior High school band.

MUSICIANS ranging in age from 11 to 14 were assembled into an intermediate group, led by Lester F. C. Smith, Pottstown Senior High school band director.

The oldest in age and musical experience were placed into the Senior band, under the temporary leadership of Staff Sgt. Adrian Saylor, who is a member of the U. S. Army band in Washington, D. C.

Lamb acclaimed last night's rehearsal as having shown "good balance," which he explained means all instruments were well represented.

He particularly lauded 9-year-old Bobby Simmons, who only started taking music lessons the past week. "He's a natural on the tuba which is almost as big as he is," said Lamb.

PLAYING UNDER the shade of the park's trees, the rehearsing young musicians will get together every night this week, climaxing their studies with a concert Sunday afternoon.

"We're going to throw new music at them every night," said Lamb, whose aim it is "to give them a chance to gain experience on their instruments." The concert is secondary.

With the idea that all music and no play makes young instrumentalists dull, Lamb is interspersing his program with ball games to start Wednesday and Saturday parties at the park's rink, Friday night.

The sessions lasting two hours from 6:30 to 8:30 o'clock, will be aided by the appearance of different area band directors who will act as guest conductors throughout the week.

The big day, Sunday, will get started early in the afternoon with professional musicians from New York, Philadelphia and Washington, symphony orchestras playing for the boys and girls. Then they will take members of the camp whose instruments correspond with their own into secluded areas in the woods to conduct a clinic and answer questions.

PARENTS AND friends of the youngsters will be invited to the concert immediately following the clinic. Under the direction of Capt. Hugh Curry, director of the U. S. Army band, the aspiring musicians will be able to show what they learned through the week's work.

This is the first year that Lamb has attempted a musical project of this type, and he feels that it has met with a huge response from young musicians in the area. "I first thought of the idea at a band directors banquet in May," he relates. "I suggested it to them and they said they would cooperate, so here we are."

Assisting Lamb in putting over the Band camp are the teachers of the music studio at 235 High Street.

Rev. Frantz Named Vice President of Philadelphia Synod

The Rev. John B. Frantz, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, has been appointed vice president of the Philadelphia synod of the Evangelical and Reformed church.

The appointment, made recently by the synodical council, was announced Sunday night at the monthly meeting of the consistory of the Trinity church, by J. Robert Van Drach, assistant principal of Pottstown Senior High school and vice president of the congregation's governing body.

The appointment becomes effective Sept. 10, and continues until the next annual meeting of the Philadelphia synod which will be held at St. John's church, Lansdale, next May, at which time nominations will be made and new officers of the synod will be elected.

The Rev. Frantz will succeed Dr. William R. Schaeffer, pastor of Faith church, Philadelphia.

As vice president, the Rev. Frantz automatically becomes a member of the placement committee in the synod which is to approve all names considered for any vacancy existing in churches of the denomination in Montgomery, Bucks and Chester counties and the city of Philadelphia.

HE ALSO BECAME a member of the synodical council of the synod, which serves as an executive committee of the synod between its annual meetings.

The Rev. Frantz has been pastor of the Trinity church since September, 1943, and has been chairman of the committee on evangelism since 1947.

Shantz to Receive Moose Membership

Twelve members of Lodge 369, Loyal Order of Moose, made final arrangements last night at a brief, humid July-August meeting for the presentation of a life membership to the Athletics' Bobby Shantz at Friday's "Shantz Night."

They also approved payment of the lodge's bills and attended to other routine business. Next regular meeting of the organization will be in September.

Because of the Summer heat, only one meeting is conducted for July and August. Governor Lester Boughner presided at last night's meeting.

Grace Brotherhood Plans Picnic Before Meeting

Grace Lutheran church's brotherhood will eat a picnic supper and play baseball and quits before its July business meeting, at 6:30 o'clock tonight in Sunnysbrook park. President Jesse G. The gifts of a bad man bring no good with them.—Euripides.

That Sunlit Hour

POTTSTOWNIANS spending their daylight-saved hour every day should be interested to know that they owe it largely to Benjamin Franklin and William Willett.

Franklin first conceived the idea, but Willett, an Englishman, was its principal pioneer, according to a learned article on the subject in Business Week.

Willett published in 1907 a pamphlet entitled "The Waste of Daylight," in which he wrote:

While daylight surrounds us, cheerfulness reigns, anxieties press less heavily, and courage is bred for the struggle of life.

Great man, Willett. It takes greatness to love an hour of daylight like that.

It takes greatness to express the feeling so beautifully too, but somehow or other we still prefer the way another great man said the same thing.

"I hate to see," he said, the blue notes falling round him like rain, "the evening sun go down."

Obscuring Basic Principles

A great deal of the debate over the pros and cons of the price control laws has been confined to whether or not retail prices would rise if the restrictions were abandoned.

Advocates of continued controls say prices would go up—opponents of controls believe there would be little if any change.

This argument over possible price trends, unfortunately, has tended to hide the far more important long range principles which are involved.

The controls—which simply represent an effort to run our complex economy by political fiat—are a disease which attacks the vitals of the free enterprise system of doing things.

They are tremendously costly to businesses of all kinds—to say nothing of the taxpayers who must pay the large administrative overhead. They discourage initiative. They retard production.

Over the long pull, they always create scarcities—a fact which has been demonstrated in nation after nation in both ancient and modern times.

But, people may ask, how can prices be held to a fair level?

That can be answered in a phrase—through open competition.

As consumers, we see the working of competition best at the retail level of business.

The nation is served by hundreds of thousands of stores. Some are small, some are large. Some are specialized, some deal in almost every kind of merchandise. Some are operated independently, some are part of national and regional chain systems.

But all have one thing in common—they are out to get the consumer's business and use every legitimate inducement to that end.

This is the classical way in which prices are held down and service to the public is continually bettered.

Reader Sounds off About Steel Strike

Sounds Off at Union

To the Editor: The Bethlehem Steel union is holding out against the steel companies yet on account of the non-union men not joining. Bethlehem Steel will let you men work. Isn't that who you work for.

After all, why don't you make up and let the company know you will work.

To heck with Philip Murray. You men who paid dues out of your pay made him so forceful. Now you see what he can do. After all, that $2 or $3 he gets can buy a couple loaves of bread for your family.

Bethlehem Steel doesn't want to make their workers do anything they don't want to do. You aren't working for Philip Murray.

The steel company gave you all a raise, paid holidays, sick benefits. What more do you want?

If this keeps up where will you be? Does Murray care? Well, you should know how much he cares about you. He is holding out just to make the non-union men join the union.

Can't you see that your tax notice is coming in now? Will Murray help to pay them?

No, and if you all listen and wait for him to help you, you will be in such a hole you won't ever get out.

Go to your local CIO. Ask them to help you. Boy, then they get their duff up! They get your money, some of it anyway, but what do you get?

Philip Murray should pay his men enough for groceries every week, but does he?

He never will rise up.

What's wrong with you all anyway? Tell him to go jump in a lake and stay in. The water's nice now.

And you great big picket guys down around the shop, water does far more good than beer. Go home and mow your lawns. No one will walk away with the place.

The cops are continually complaining about how undermanned they are and still they continue in their attempt to make time with the pretty young ladies while on duty.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

ADA M. 31, should be of primary interest to every young person contemplating marriage.

"Dr. Crane, my father was a clergyman," she began, "and reared me in an ascetic type of home. I received extreme refinement of manner and perfect English, as well as very high ethical and cultural standards."

"But I had very few friends and was poorly equipped to face the world. For my parents gave me no sex instruction whatever!"

"At the age of 20, I became an orphan and sought employment. Just imagine, Dr. Crane, I had never attended a dance or a party!"

"And I never had had a dollar of my own to spend as I wished. I had never even chosen my own food at a restaurant."

"Maybe my first job would have educated me, but I left in a panic over the attentions of my employer."

"I WAS SHOCKED and frightened at the extent to which other girls and I were expected to indulge in petting and other things."

"The main reason I married my husband was his respectful treatment of me during our six months of courtship."

"Oh, I realized even then that his education, manners and lack of neatness were entirely different from my own."

"But I felt that such things could easily be changed. He was 'safe' to be with on a date, so I agreed to marriage."

"However, even his own cousin told me I was making a mistake and that I would lead a miserable life."

"The family with whom I roomed also told me I would be unhappy, but I felt that love could overcome all minor difficulties."

"I have now lived 10 years with him, mostly in hell. It began almost at once after the honeymoon."

"He hated bathing and dropped his pretense of good manners, good grammar and industry. I believe our sexual compatibility alone has held us together."

"He would bathe, shave and treat me with some tenderness only after marital relations."

"But never a month went by that we didn't quarrel over differences in our ideals, beliefs and living habits."

"During that first year, his people asked us to visit them. My husband didn't want me to go. I found that his parents lived in a poor cabin of two rooms in the southern hills."

"Chickens, cats, four pound dogs and flies went through the two rooms at will. His mother and sisters went around barefoot and chewed snuff."

"Although my husband was embarrassed when I visited his parents, he seems to revert to their level of living and thinking."

"Although he makes a good salary, earning $300 per month, he still is juvenile in his behavior."

"Last One In..."

Arriving in U. S. ---

 SUMMER SNAPSHOT—This typical Pottstown family, father, mother and two fine boys, evidently had just come from church. They were walking home, out North Hanover street and nearing East street. At 11 o'clock, an 86-degree Sunday sun stanted its burning rays down on hot pavements. The family must have been nearing home. The two boys already had taken off their multi-colored sports shirts, revealing bronzed chests that bespoke much outdoor activity. One boy (he was about nine) waved his shirt as if to stir up a breeze on a still morning. The older carried his hooked on a finger over his right shoulder. Father by this time had succumbed to a boyish urge to get almost undressed before the swimming hole was reached. He had removed his coat and folded it over his crooked left arm. Alop that he had placed his tie. Collar of his white shirt was unbuttoned. By golly, he already was unbuttoning the third button of his shirt front. Mother, just as freshly laundered as if she had just stepped out of a model's makeup room, looked up with eyes that said: "Goodness gracious! Can't you boys wait till you get home?" ... Too bad our auto wouldn't linger to see the rest of the tableau.

 VISITORS—Two Pottstown visitors will have much to tell about the Liner United States record run across the Atlantic when they come here today. The Britons will be visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Orlando, Ringing Hill. They will be Wilfred Guy, sister of Mrs. Orlando, and her girl friend, Dorothy Cotes, both of Swindon, England. Mrs. Orlando's sister was a member of a clerical staff in an English aircraft factory, while the Cotes gal was a beautician. Mrs. Orlando (Ella) was a British war bride. The United States, fastest and most luxuriant of ocean liners, is scheduled to dock in New York this morning.

 COMPLICATIONS—There have been tales of houses divided. In this year of presidential election there may be more. Figure the case of twin brothers' Louis Maag, Schwenksville RD 1, a local Bell Telephone employee, and his twin brother, Ben, of Philadelphia. Pottstown's Lou is a redhot Republican. Ben is a rabid Democrat. Interesting situation? ... Pottstown persons who listened to Senator Richard M. Nixon spellbind a Republican dinner crowd at Sunnyside in February of 1951, predicted: "Say, that guy someday will be president of the United States." Those fortune-tellers all most reached it when Nixon was nominated for vice president on the Republican ticket in the Chicago convention.

 SOLDIERS—Corp. Carl F. Herbsleb Jr., 1004 North Evans street, Sunday will begin a 15-day tour of Summer field training with the 32nd Medical base depot company at Camp Eberle, Va. Herbsleb is a citizen-soldier who's employed at Lee's in Bridgeport. Others from this area serving with the outfit are its commanding officer, Capt. Paul F. Wolf, Pfc. Claude R. Kershner Jr. and Pfc. Robert Kershner, of Mont Clare; and Sgt. Edward J. McCormick, 21 Tenth avenue, and Sgt. Donald C. Doehling, 27 College avenue, both of Collegeville. ... Corp. William Kerper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kerper, Birdsboro, is serving with the 25th Infantry division in Korea. ... Send a get-well card to Mrs. James E. Haw Sr., who's confined to the Pennsylvania hospital at Eighth and Spruce streets, Philadelphia 7.

 ADOPTER—Mrs. Samuel W. Morris, Pottstown RD 2, has "adopted" Anna Lanzellotto, an 11-year-old Italian girl, through Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, Inc. Foster Parents' Plan has cared for more than 70,000 European war children. It is now operating in Belgium, England, France, Western Germany, Greece, Holland, and Italy and is helping unfortunate and impoverished children of 14 different nationalities, without regard to race or creed. Anna "adopted" by the Pottstown woman, lives with her mother and three brothers in a cold, damp room on the outskirts of Pompei. Before her father was murdered in cold blood by the Germans, he had been a bricklayer, working hard to support his family. His widow was granted a pension of $21 a month and this is her only steady income. When she can, she works in the fields and is given some corn and wheat instead of cash. All the children are undernourished and sickly. Anna is now assured of the extra food and clothing she needs as well as any necessary medical care.

 WATCH YOUR LANGUAGE—C A D E N C E — (KA-dens) — noun: rhythmic flow of language; rhythm; the measure or beat of any rhythmic motion, as dancing, a fall of the voice in utterance. In music, a concluding strain; a trill or other closing embellishment.

 HAPPY BIRTHDAY—Today's birthday list includes: Eleanor Stecher, opera, concert and radio soprano; Hilde Seassie, empress of Ethiopia; Earle Stenley Gardner, detective story writer; James Cagney, actor; and Lou Roudreau, Boston Red Sox manager.

 HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?—1. Toast.
2. A fruit.

 POTTSTOWN SKETCHES—A cartoon by Betty showing a man in a suit and hat walking through a doorway labeled 'CHICAGO'. He is carrying a briefcase and looking back over his shoulder. A sign on the wall says 'CHICAGO'.

"I wasn't able to cut two billion out of the bill, Congressman McConnell, but I did kill one item for $175."

A Quick Look at Your Neighbor

By MARTIN SALDITCH

THE REV. MARIS H. GRIFFITHS, 918 High street, who is pastor of Evansburg Methodist church, believes the best test of a person's religious faith is his conduct toward other individuals while doing his daily job.

The Rev. Griffiths is literally a man who practices what he preaches.

On Sundays he urges his parishioners to live a spiritual life. During the other six days of the week the small, quick-moving pastor tests his own faith by working as a salesman in the work clothes and shoe department at the J. C. Penney department store.

"My job has been a challenge in testing my relationships toward customers and other employees," explains the Rev. Griffiths. "By requiring patience and consideration, it has helped me to prove the spiritual life."

Born in Conshohocken November 22, 1916, the lay pastor was raised in Norristown, graduating from high school in 1938. He took a position as clerk at the Bridgeport National bank, and during the next 18 years advanced to bookkeeper, teller and then cashier. He worked in banks till 1951. In February of that year he became a salesman at the J. C. Penney store.

The Rev. Griffiths' religious career dates from 1930, when he became active in the youth activities of the Methodist church in Norristown. He became president of his local church group, and was invited to do outside speaking. In 1932 he was issued a lay preacher's license in the Methodist church, and began to assist the home pastor.

He was given the first charge of his own in March, 1944, when he became pastor of Ebenezer Methodist church, Boyertown, and in July of that year he was appointed to the Evansburg Methodist church.

Up to that time, Methodist students at Ursinus college had served as pastors of the Evansburg church, and there was no steady direct force. The Rev. Griffiths' leadership during the past eight years improved this situation.

When he took over, the church roll contained 32 members, most of them inactive, and had a Sunday school enrollment of 40 persons. Now the church roll contains 85 members, 77 of whom are active, and the Sunday school has an enrollment of 125.

The Rev. Griffiths moved to Pottstown in 1945. His wife, the former Pearl Pike, was born and raised here. Mrs. Griffiths is also active in church affairs, and met her husband while participating in Methodist youth activities. They were married in November, 1933.

The Griffiths have three children: Gordon, 16; Richard, 14, and Bruce, 13. The pastor hopes one of the boys will become a minister, although he intends to let each determine his own career.

"I hope they will make an early decision on what they want to do in life," says Rev. Griffiths.

"I made a mistake in waiting so long to go into the religious field. The uncertainty of the depression and war years immobilized me. I stayed in the bank and thought and waited, as I was reluctant to change my career."

"I should have entered a theological seminary while I was a young man, so I could have been ordained as a full-time pastor."

Regardless of past regrets, the Rev. Griffiths says:

"I have enjoyed life to the fullest up to the present time, even in periods of difficulty and uncertainty. I have led a happy life because I have tried to be of service to my fellowmen, both in and out of church."

"A MAN WHO IS SATISFIED WILL LIVE A LONG LIFE." Charles E. Roberts, of 311 North Franklin street, observed on his 88th birthday yesterday.

"Hereditarily has nothing to do with it," claims Roberts, who has outlived all but one of his nine brothers and sisters, two wives, and four children.

"The important thing is to be satisfied with the job you have, so you don't lose any sleep at night worrying about it," the octogenarian emphasized.

"Another thing that has something to do with my living so long," he added, "is that I raised a large family, which took all my money. I couldn't afford to run around and get drunk."

Roberts is used to large families. Born in Sharptown, Md., on July 14, 1864, he was brought up with five girls and four other boys. (The surviving 91-year-old sister now lives in Philadelphia.)

Although his father was a farmer, Roberts became an apprentice to his uncle, who was a blacksmith. But after several years work with hammer and anvil, Roberts decided he wanted to see more of the world than could be viewed from a blacksmith's shop. He was 18 years old when he left for the big town — Philadelphia — to go to sea.

He signed up as a deck hand with a shipping company, and for the next 10 years traveled up and down the East coast on steam and sail freighters.

In April, 1890, he visited Perkiomen in search of a land job, but turned down a position at a brick plant there "because it was too dirty." Instead, Roberts applied at the Pennsylvania Railroad station there, and was hired as a maintenance man. Two years later he switched to the Reading railroad, the company he was to remain with during the following 42 years, 3 months and 8 days. (Roberts has a good memory for dates.)

He served as a handman at the Perkiomen Junction, doing all kinds of work on both track and tower, until he was transferred to Pottstown on June 22, 1915, when he took charge of the station blacksmith shop.

Roberts believes, "People are cut out for definite jobs. I didn't like blacksmithing when I first tried it, but as the years passed I felt I had to get back to it, and finish my working life that way. Anyway, I liked it better than any other job with the railroad."

Roberts worked as a blacksmith until he was retired by the company on July 31, 1934, at the age of 70. "I ain't done nothing since," says Roberts, but that is hardly the truth.

He has continued to participate actively in the affairs of the Bethel African Methodist church, following 15 years as superintendent of the Sunday school. He has been preacher steward for the past 30 years, and is presently treasurer of the Sunday school.

He has also been a delegate to the annual national conference of the church for the past 23 years, and the past May attended a two-week meeting in Chicago.

"It was sort of a vacation," says Roberts, who likes to make frequent train trips to Philadelphia to visit with some of the 11 orphaned children he has raised, and to Reading to attend meetings of the Railroad Veterans association.

"I've never been better satisfied in my life as I am now," Roberts declares. "If there is anything wrong with me, I don't know it. I can read without glasses, and have most of my original teeth. I haven't lost my appetite. I can still eat like a horse, and it never hurts me. I don't even have a corn on my foot."

"Yes, sir," the elderly man concluded, "I'm a satisfied man. I got lots of life left in me yet."

Crash Victim Almost Kills Singer for His Funeral
CARLINVILLE, Ill., July 14 (AP)—Francis Woeber was so worried about his health he even made arrangements for his own funeral.

Last night the 62-year-old Woeber died when he lost control of his car and the machine rolled down an embankment near here. Before going over the embankment Woeber's car sideswiped two other cars, causing authorities to believe he may have suffered a heart attack.

One of the cars was driven by Russell Slagel of Alton—who had been asked by Woeber to sing at his funeral.

Motel Slaying Case Is Solved by Police

BUTLER, July 14 (AP)—State police wrapped up the weekend motel slaying of an unknown woman today by identifying her and by charging a shipping clerk with beating her to death during a pick-up date.

The victim, whose body was found Friday crumpled on the floor of a nearby motel, was Mrs. Virginia Hill, 40. Her body was identified by her husband, Caspar Hill, a Pittsburgh bank guard who had reported his wife missing.

Charged in the slaying is Victor A. Borowski, 30, a Pittsburgh shipping clerk who gave State Police Sergeant Paul Rittleman a statement which told this story:

Thursday night Borowski met Mrs. Hill in a Pittsburgh taproom. They made a tour of taverns and wound up at Claypoole's motel, on Route 8, about 10 miles south of here.

BOROWSKI AND the woman began arguing and he struck her in the face, making her nose bleed. Then he left. He said she was alive then.

The next morning, Mrs. Susan Claypoole, the motel owner, found Mrs. Hill's body on the floor near the cabin bed. She was scantily dressed. The coroner said she died of a brain hemorrhage.

Sgt. Bittelman said discovery of the body set police off on a patient tour of taverns. In one place they picked up the name Victor, as the woman's companion. That clue helped lead to Borowski's arrest. He had registered at the motel as Victor Burke of Gibsonia.

North Dakota Retailer Named to Head Elks
NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—A North Dakota retailer was named without opposition today to head the Elks and called on the Order's 1,070,000 members for more help to youth and immigrants.

Sam Stern, a clothing store executive from Fargo, N. D., was nominated by Hal Davis, publisher of the Minot, N. D., Daily News.

Tom Whalen of St. Thomas, N. D., U. S. ambassador to Nicaragua, seconded Stern's nomination.

The 64-year-old Stern, an Elk since 1910, a State leader in work for crippled children, and a member of the Elks' board of grand trustees for seven years, thus became the Elks grand exalted ruler for one year.

He succeeds Howard R. Davis, retired weekly newspaper editor from Williamsport, Pa.

Screening Opened For Possible Planes

HARRISBURG, July 14 (AP)—Pennsylvania opened around-the-clock screening of possible enemy aircraft today—still some 40 percent short of its needed 35,000 volunteer watchers.

A spot check showed between 75 and 80 percent of the Commonwealth's 627 observation posts were at least partially manned at the start of the program.

Pennsylvania's two filter stations at Harrisburg and Pittsburgh—the nerve centers of the setup—had only 50 percent of the necessary personnel.

MIAMI, Fla., July 14 (AP)—C. Edwin Johnson, a Chicago real estate dealer, today was elected president of the National Association of Rainbow Veterans.

He succeeds William S. Butts of Tulsa, Okla., who was named honorary president of the famed World War I division.

The ground observation posts are the backbone of the Air Force's radar net," he said. "The need for additional volunteers is very great."

Small Royersford Girl Dies
From Lymphatic Leukemia

A four month battle for her life ended yesterday morning for 8-year-old Virginia May Dix, when the courageous Royersford youngster died at her home, the victim of lymphatic leukemia.

She was the only daughter of Raymond and May (Dougherty) Dix, 323 Summer street, Royersford.

Her death is mourned by the hundreds of area friends who through their gifts and cards kept alive the child's hopes of regaining her health. The many trips to the Pottstown hospital for treatment of the dreaded blood disease failed to dampen the little girl's spirit as she insisted to the end that she would recover.

Virginia was a Third grade pupil at the Royersford public school. Her young classmates grieve the loss of their cheerful pal for whom they had prayed both at school and at home.

Her illness was discovered the past March and since that time she has been confined to her home. Blood specialists made every effort to save the child but her visits to the hospital were in vain.

Escape Plot Discovered When Bears Tip Paws

PITTSBURGH, July 14 (AP)—Alert keepers foiled a well-planned escape plot today at the zoo.

Six polar bears, supposedly happy residents of the Highland Park Zoo, had started tunnelling a passage toward the sidewalk from the inside of their cage.

An attendant said the bears tipped their paw by huddling excitedly around the cave's entrance. He added they acted "like a bunch of convicts."
